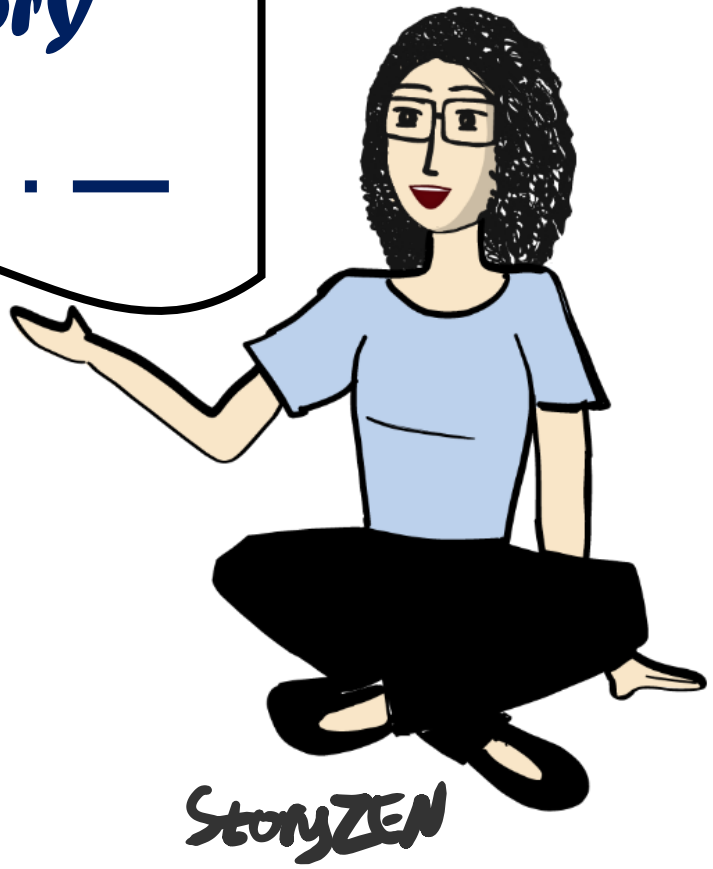
A group story



2021 – Alex Brailas

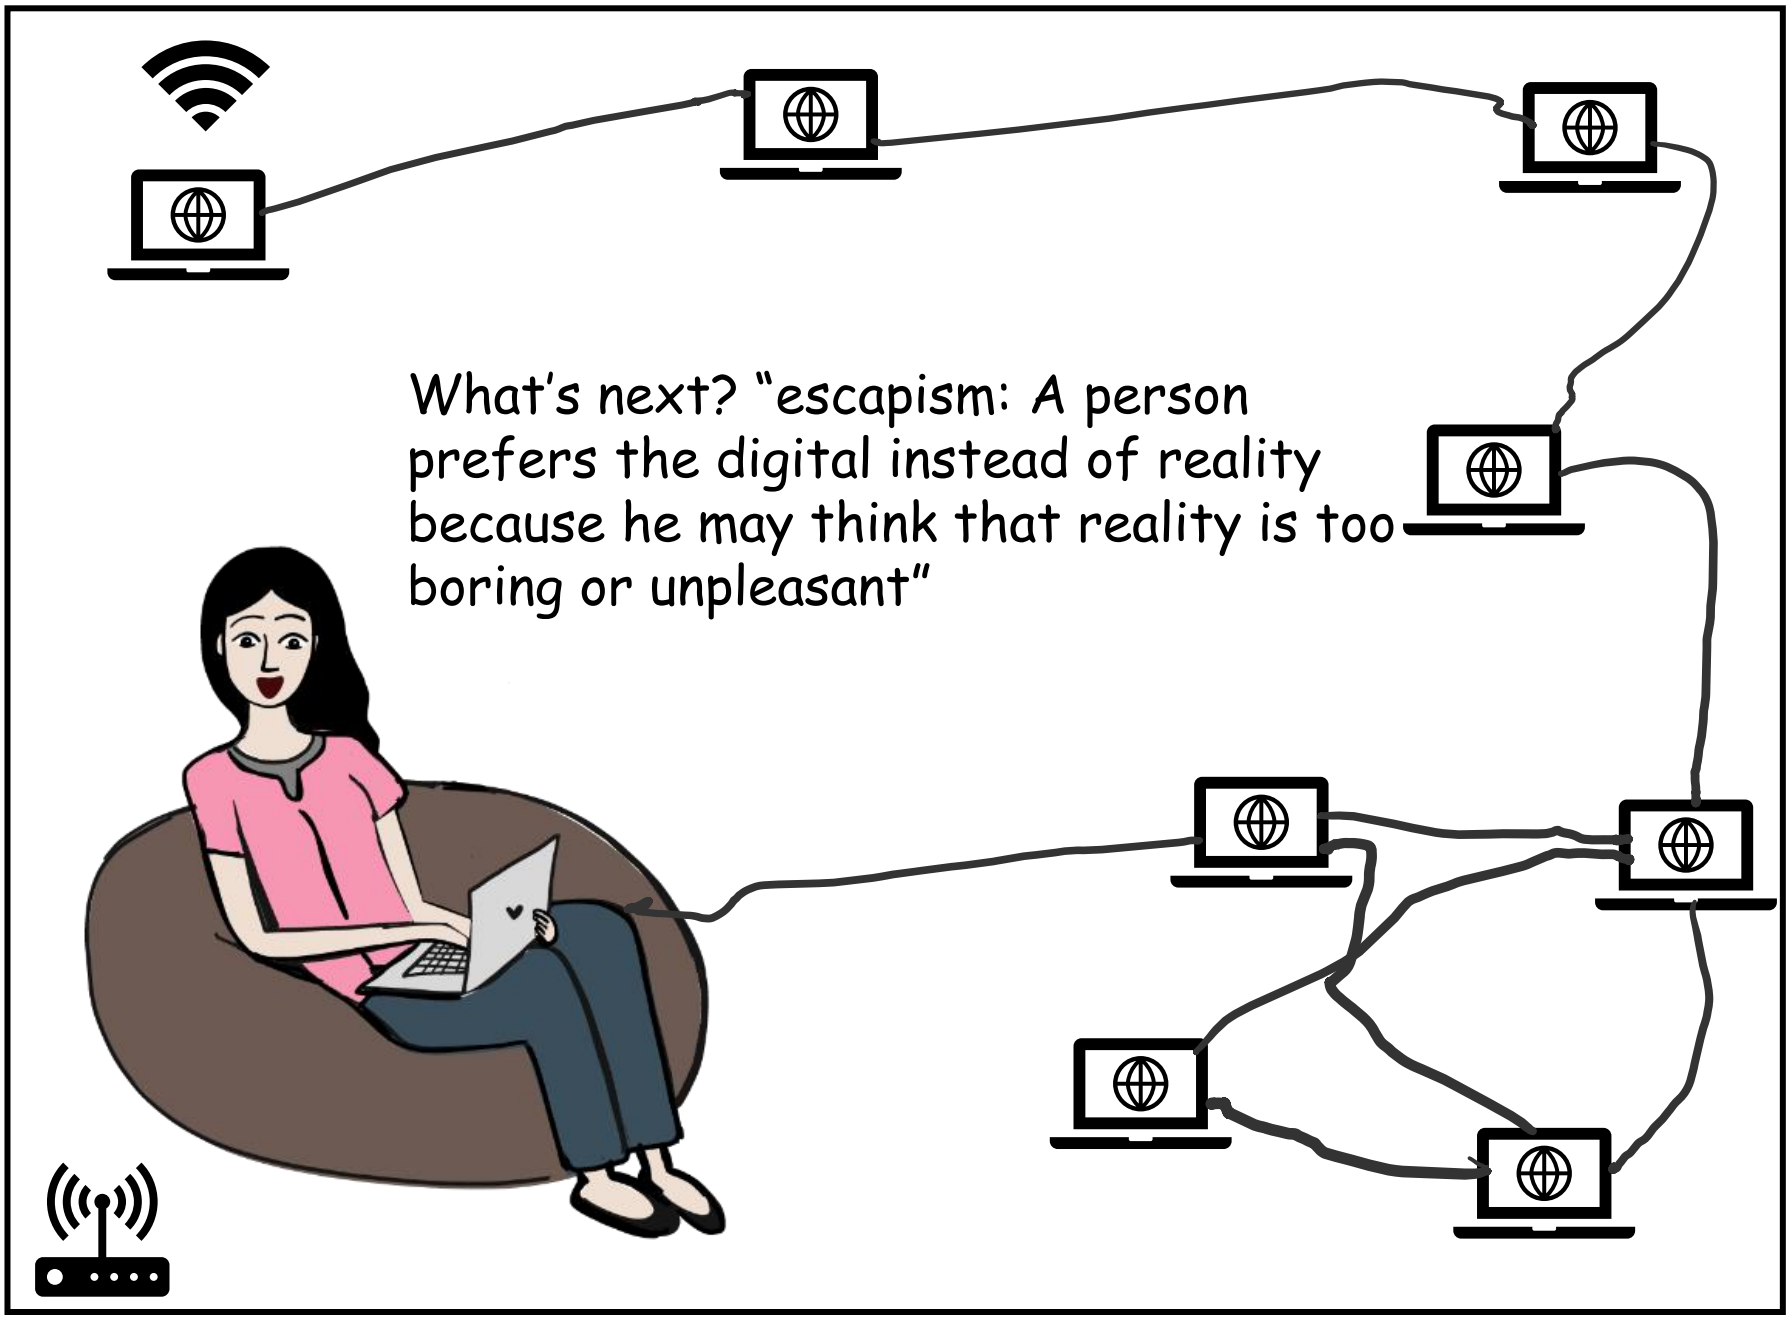
The internet time is so condensed: So many big changes and transformations happened in just 3-4 decades. Then, I wonder, what will happen in the forthcoming decade?

The internet helps us connect in meaningful ways with other human, or even not human, beings. Nevertheless, we have to navigate murky waters. How much to share to maintain a minimum level of safety and privacy?

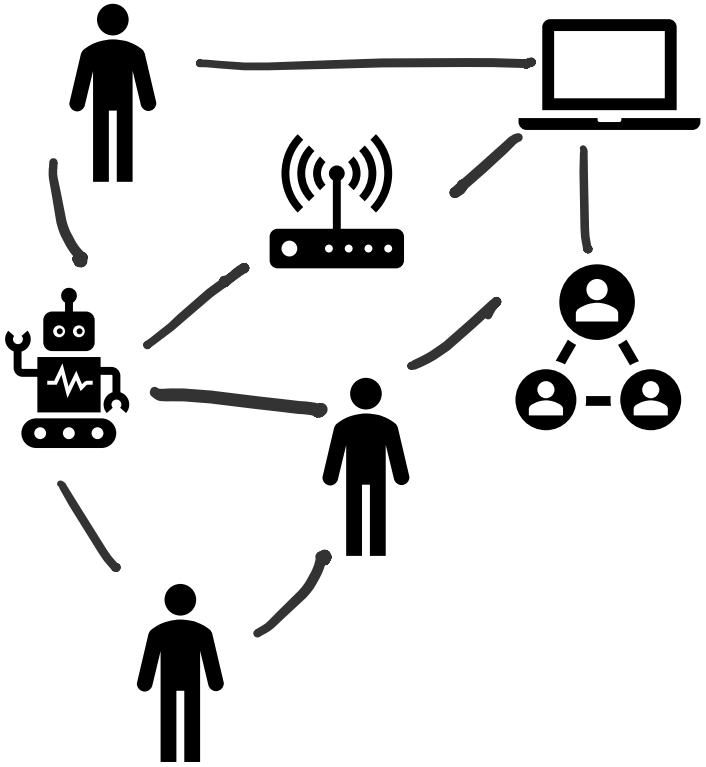
How to find a balance between on-screen and off-screen life?

Thinking about our techno-social future and how it is co-determined and decided by big tech-media commercial companies.

What are the limits of AI? Is there a standard normal? Do we have to adapt to a new normal more and more often?



What's next? "escapism: A person prefers the digital instead of reality because he may think that reality is too boring or unpleasant"



What are the ethics of AI
